The Kiddush this week has been sponsored in honour of the Bar Mitzva Anniversaries of Rabbi Berlin, John Fleischmann & Yudi Zuckerberg

Halocha from the Daf

The Gemorah in Pesachim Daf 50 Says: One who does "work" on Erev Shabbos and Erev Yom Tov from 'mincha' time and onwards will never see a blessing from such work. However on Erev Pesach this law applies from midday. The reason labour is curtailed on the eve of holidays is in order to allow a person ample time to prepare for Shabbos and Yom Tov. Therefore, the Rishonim write that an effortless job is permissible to perform, for it is "light" and it is not (halachically regarded as) "set tasks." Also, work needed for Shabbos and Yom Tov can be performed. Similarly, even after the time of Mincha k'tana (9½ hours), one would be allowed to do a light watering of his garden, sew a button, or write a letter, for these are not set labours. It would also be permitted to clean the floor and get a haircut in honour of Shabbos. There is also a leniency with regards to work which, if not done, will cause a loss, as well as other tasks which are needed for a mitzvah. On Erev Pesach the reason that the halocha applies from midday, is that, it is the time to bring the Korban Pesach, which each member of the nation is obligated in. On a day which one brings an offering it is considered a Yom Tov for the one offering it, and as such all work is forbidden. This law even applies today. Therefore on Erev Pesach, one may not do work even for the purpose of Pesach. One cannot even get a haircut from a Jew on Erev Pesach from midday and onwards. (With regards to cutting one's nails; if one forgot to cut them before midday, the Mishna Berurah permits one to have them cut even by a fellow Jew.)

Something for the Shabbos table

The Parsha opens with the command to appoint Shoftim and Shotrim in our cities. What are these two positions? Rashi explains that Shoftim are the judges who decide what the outcome of a case is. Shotrim, Rashi says, are the court officers who make sure that the verdict is carried out e.g. make sure that Reuven does pay the money to Shimon. A message we can learn from here is that there are times in life when one needs to be a Shofet, and times to be a Shoter. This means that there are times when one needs to decide on a direction to take (a Shofet), but equally sometimes one must go with whatever decision they have made and make sure they carry it out - a Shoter. This means sticking with the decision through thick and thin, and not necessarily changing it until you are convinced that it just doesn't go. After all, if one keeps changing their decisions after each slight hitch in the plans then one is never going to come to a firm decision.
