Halacha from the Daf

After the Holocaust there was a disagreement between two families regarding ownership of property. There was a couple who was sent to Auschwitz with their two children and they were all killed ה"ד. When the couple married, the bride's father gave some property to the couple that qualified as tzon-barzel property. The husband's family was presently in possession of this property and the wife's family was looking to take it for themselves. The question was what should be done if it is not known who died first. The families turned to the author of Teshuvos Minchas Yitzchok for a ruling. The Minchas Yitzchok wrote that since it is not known whether the husband or one of his children outlived his wife or whether she outlived the rest of her family, halacha should follow what is stated in our Gemorah. The Gemorah teaches that when a house collapses on a couple and it is not known who died first the tzon-barzel property is divided between the heirs of the husband and the heirs of the wife.

Something for the Shabbos table

The one mitzvah that we do not have any grasp on is the parah adumah - the Torah calls it a chok, ie a mitzvah that we do not understand. The question is; Why did Hashem set it up that this particular mitzvah should be the quintessential chok?

The Shemen HaTov explains that parah adumah comes to purify tumah that comes from a dead person. When did death enter the world? It was as a result of Adam HaRishon's sin, when Adam and Chavah ate from the tree of knowledge. What tempted them to do so? Because the serpent told them that 'on the day you eat from it...you will be like G-D knowing good and evil' (Bereishis 3;4). In other words, the sin that caused death was based on the will to know everything. Therefore, the atonement is, that we are given a mitzvah called parah adumah which purifies the impurity which results from death - and this mitzvah we do not have any knowledge of. The sin was a thirst for too much out-of-bounds knowledge, and the correction is the 'chok' - where we have no knowledge of how the mitzvah of the parah adumah works.
