Matanas L'evyonim - Who to Give?

The halachos of matanos l'evyonim are similar to those of tzedaka. While you are allowed to give tzedaka to whomever you wish to, the Gemara (Bava Metzia 71a) writes that one should donate locally before sending money out of town. The Shulchan Aruch (YD 251:3) writes that there is a hierarchy of who takes precedence. One must support one's poor relatives first, followed by one's neighbours, then poor people in one's city and lastly poor people in Eretz Yisrael.

The Aruch Hashulchan (YD 251:8) writes that even if the poor people from another city are talmidei chachamim, and the local poor aren't, one should support the locals first. While the poor in Eretz Yisroel take precedence over those in other places, the Shach (YD 251:6) writes that the local poor come before those of Eretz Yisroel.

While there is a halacha on Purim that one should give to anyone who stretches out his hand, this does not necessarily apply to charity organisations. One certainly isn't obligated to give money to every written appeal.

As some of these tzedaka organisations have large overheads (including advertising costs, and even sending people to daven at various places as a segula) many feel that it is best to give tzedaka to a local charity, especially when all the money goes directly to tzedaka.

Matanos L'evyonim

As in previous years
The Rabbi will be collecting money for Matanos L'evyonim.

In order for this money to be distributed on Purim please hand it in by mincha on Purim.

Daf HaYomi - We will be starting Berochos 58a on Sunday

Something for the Shabbos table

In Parshas Terumah when Hashem commands the building of the mishkan, He starts from the inner parts (the aron kodesh, the shulchan, etc), and then moves to the outer parts of the mishkan (outer mizbeyach, courtyard, etc). The message is that in the building of a Jew's relationship with Hashem, too, one starts from an inner meaning and strength, and then reflects this in physical actions of mitzvos. In other words, our reality is that there is a world of internality, thought, and depth before you get to physical actions, which is at the very least just as important as the physical acts. This is also seen in the orders of the parshiyos of the Shema; Reb Yehoshua ben Korcha (mishna brachos 13a) says that the first parsha of Shema is said before the second, because the first is about accepting Hashem's Kingship (ie internal work) and the second then progresses to the different mitzvos. The Chizkuni (devarim 11;26) also notes that Moshe starts pressing the Bnei Yisrael about yiras shamayim, and only afterwards does he repeat the individual mitzvos. The message here is; internal work may be less glamorous, but it has longer-lasting effects and staying power.
